Who is my SELF and what is my WORK?

facilitated by Mary Ragan, PhD, LCSW

January 11, 2012

10:30 am -12 noon

Located at the NY Open Center*, 22 East 30th Street, NY, NY

(*This event is not affiliated with the NY Open Center)

This session will focus on helping individuals and organizations function from a deeper place, with more awareness of the unconscious dynamics that shape individual and organizational life. Using a model developed by Otto Scharmer, an organizational consultant from MIT, we will examine what he calls the three requirements for spiritual and psychological health: an open mind, an open heart and an open will.

Please come with all three and we will learn together.

Mary Ragan, PhD, LCSW is the area director at Trinity, one of the four sites of PSI, where she practices as a clinical social worker, and is project manager for PSI's program of outreach to veterans called IN OUR OWN VOICE: Women Veterans Tell Their Story. She also serves as an adjunct assistant professor at Columbia University School of Social Work and as adjunct faculty at Hebrew Union College and New York Theological Seminary, and taught for many years at General Theological Seminary. Mary is a consultant to a variety of leadership teams, in both religious and secular organizations and her cross-cultural work has taken her to Venezuela, Bolivia and Guatemala.

The Psychotherapy and Spirituality Institute helps restore hope, health, and healing to individuals, families, communities, and organizations by providing professional counseling, consulting, and educational services.
